Welcome to the Parliamentary Delegation from Republic of Korea

MR. SPEAKER.—I wish to inform the House that a Parliamentary delegation from the Republic of Korea led by His Excellency Mr. IL Kwon Chung, Speaker of the National Assembly of the Republic of Korea arrived in Bangalore yesterday evening. The members of the delegation are now in the Speaker's Gallery of this chamber witnessing the proceedings of this House.

On my behalf and on behalf of the Hon'ble Members of this House, I have great pleasure in welcoming the delegation.

During the short period of their stay we are trying to show them as much as possible of our city. We wish them a happy stay and through them we convey our greetings & best wishes to their National Assembly and the people of Korea. The delegation is returning to Delhi this evening.

SRI D. DEVARAJ URS.—Permit me, Sir, to join my voice with your while extending your hearty welcome to this delegation and particularly His Excellency Mr. IL Kwon Chung, Speaker of the National Assembly of the Republic of Korea and the delegation of Members of Parliament & delegation of journalists from South Korea We are indeed honoured by their visit to our State and particularly to the City of Bangalore as well as to this August House. Sir, in recent years, the friendly relationship between India and the two Koreas is fast improving and particularly with South Korea, our trade relations, cultural relations and relations in so many other aspects have improved very much and we are coming closer and closer. It was heartening to note from His Excellency Mr. IL Kwong Chung, that the Speker of the Lok Sabha, who happens to be the member from Bangalore Constituency for the Lok Sabha had visited Korea and it appears he has spoken so highly of the City of Bangalore & its beautiful surroundings its bazaars and so on and so forth.

His Excellency appears to say that it was a great temptation for His Excellency and other Members of the Delegation after hearing our Speaker of the Lok Sabha to make it a point to visit Bangalore City. So, they have fulfilled their promise of visiting Bangalore City and they have been very much pleased to see the Vidhana Soudha and the rest of the City. We are once again thankful to the Delegation who have taken pains to visit our State and to visit this House as well and I join with you in extending a hearty welcome to them and I also wish them, though their stay to the City is very short, a fine stay. I again wish to request His Excellency and the Ambassador from Korea to India to see that more and more such delegations come from South Korea to our State with a view to build up and foster more lasting friendship between these two great countries. Thank you.

S.R. BOMMAI.—Mr. Speaker Sir, it gives me immense pleasure to join you and the Hon'ble Chief Minister inwelcoming the parliamentary delegation of the Republic of Korea. During the last one year, we have been seeing a number of delegations coming from different foreign countries and our relations with foreign countries have improved, strengthened and more and more co-operation is extended.

Sir, I heartily welcome the delegation. I had the pleasure of dining with them yesterday at Raj Bhavan and I had the opportunity to meet, discuss and exchange views with them. Theirs is also a democratic country. There, Sir, the speaker is on a higher pedestal than the Prime Minister of that country, a peculiarity of their parliamentary system. In their delegation, a number of journalists who knows world affairs very well and who have studied well about India have come. Once they were known as a silk growing country and now they have stopped that and taken to industrialisation and they have got a great desire and intention to have more and more communication between our two countries. We too desire to have more and more closer relations with them. I join with the Hon'ble Chief Minister in extending a friendly welcome to His Excellency and the delegation. I request them to carry with them the good-will of Indian people to the people of South Korea. Thank you very much.

Supplementary Demands for grants for 1977-78
General Discussion (Debate Contd.)

MR. SPEAKER.—Sri M.C. Basappa may continue his speech.

SRI M.C. BASAPPA.—I was just explaining that the Finance Minister has defeated the very object of supplementary estimates by coming before this House for such a huge sum of Rs. 208 Crores. The other point which I wanted to make out was that the amounts
